

*The Heritage, Mission, Vision, and Values Curriculum
Competency, Learning Outcomes, and Student Action Steps
Citizenship and Social Values*

Competency:

TCU graduates will demonstrate an understanding of individual rights and responsibilities and an ability to assess critically the intentions and consequences of personal, professional or societal actions.

Learning Outcomes	Student Action Steps
Students will demonstrate a capacity for informed participation in civic discourse and decision-making.	Students will examine civic issues as public policy choices. Students will examine and articulate the rights and responsibilities of individuals and groups in various political/social contexts.
Students will demonstrate an understanding of theories and practices of leadership.	Students will develop an understanding of the different forms and contexts of leader-follower relations. Students will develop and apply criteria for the evaluation of leaders in varying contexts.
Students will demonstrate an understanding of one or more traditions of normative inquiry and an ability to assess the ethical dimensions of individual, professional or civic life.	Students will examine and apply theories of ethical decision-making to competing normative claims in public and/or private contexts. Students will examine and compare the implications that follow from the adoption of differing normal/ethical systems.